

I am having what should be a minor issue with my telephone provider (Qwest) which I am unable to resolve through their usual customer service channels. After visiting their Directory of service and their website, I am still not aware of who to escalate the problem to. Can you advise?